thousand ems. Apply at the LEADER News Room immediately.

COMING.—Sam, Sharpey's minstrel's announce that they will be here for a season of five nights, commencing June 16th.

CONCERT BY MISS KATE DEAN.—The well known vocalist, Miss Kate Dean is anounced for two concerts at Brainerd's Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week.

To night Mr. Adams will appear in the character of Middleton, in the great moral drama of the Drunkard; and as he is to receive a benefit on this his last but one night that he plays here, let the lovers of the best drama in endeavor to compensate for the want of that large attendance which the weather and other circumstances have made him.

STEAMER.—Those delirious things, which, coaling once a year, compensate for many of the ill to which flesh is heir, have made their appearance in our markets. Visions of strawberries and cream are slow to be conjured up as yet, until strawberries become cheaper than fifty cents a quart.

RENOVATION.—Colonel J. P. Ross, the excellent proprietor of the Angler House, is busily engaged in laying new carpets, getting in new furniture and otherwise renovating matters in that popular and successful hotel. We are glad to note these fresh evidences of prosperity.

THE CIRCUS.—Yesterday afternoon and evening the Circus was again in full blast with crowded audiences. Hannibal was fed all day and night by the youngster, upon the sweets of the land. The lion slept in grin majesty. The leopard and the tiger fright, while the two bears hugged and bit each other with most woeeful howlings. The lions cracked their weather-beaten jokes; the valets vaulted in fine style; the gymnasts showed the nerve of the muscular spines; the equestrians rode gallantly, and the whole troop did their work in a style calculated to keep the audience in constant eager interest or merry peals of laughter.

The Circus is peculiarly the delight of children, and therefore crowds of little boys and girls were on hand.

A LADY IN PURSUIT OF A GUAZ.—Mr. J. H. DeWitt, on the Public Square, is a fairy resort for the ladies. Accidentally one, slightly light-fingered, visited the establishment, will be made evident in the following tale: A lady (?) residing on Parkman street called at the above store, and wished to examine some cloaks. One of the clerks counted out thirteen, and placed them on the counter for her inspection, and then left her and walked to the other end of the store, and placed himself before a mirror, with his back toward her. He presently saw her take one of the cloaks and secret it under some part of her dress, and was making for the door; he at once walked after her, and demanded it of her. She then endeavored to make some explanation, but somehow or other she was slightly embarrassed, and found it was difficult to express her views just then. She was arrested and was yesterday brought up at the police court and fined the sum of $30.
A warrant was issued and her home was searched, and we understand that quite a large quantity of goods, supposed to be stolen, was found, among which were some articles lost by Mr. DeWitt a week or two since.

NETS—INVIMBLE & CHINILLE.

The accounts of the R. W. G. Secretary and Treasurer were reported correct, and, with the addition of monies paid in at the Session, a cash balance was found in the treasury of $1,500.

A resolution was unanimously adopted authorizing the Hon. James Black, of Pennsylvania, author of the "Cider Train," to prepare a tract on the "Wine Drinking Culture" of the times, to be given a wide circulation.

The executive officers were given full power in the matter of extending the Order in territory, and aiding such States as may be in a feeble condition.

Authority was given for the immediate institution of a Grand Temple in Delaware, and General Deputies were appointed to labor in New Jersey, Nebraska, and those border States in which at present there are but a few, if any.
